

A stack of four folded blankets is placed on a dark wooden chair. The top blanket is light-colored with vertical stripes in grey, blue, and orange, and has a fringed edge. The second blanket is a solid dark red color. The third blanket is a light-colored plaid pattern. The bottom blanket is a light-colored blanket with a fringed edge. The chair is positioned in a field of tall, golden-brown grass under a clear blue sky.

90% merino wool
10% cashmere

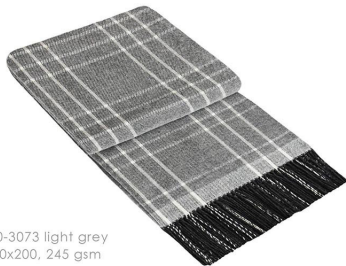

Cashmere wool, usually simply known as cashmere, is a luxury fiber obtained from cashmere goats and other types of goat. It is soft, silky, light, warm and glossy. Cashmere is probably the most luxurious fiber.

Merino wool is fine and soft. Ultra fine wool is suitable for blending with other fibers such as silk and cashmere. It also has higher elasticity that helps prevent garments made with Merino wool from losing their shape. Merinos are still regarded as having some of the finest and softest wool of any sheep.
